EMOTIONAL STRENGTH

We know that it is God's will that we take care of the spiritual part of ourselves. We need to practice our faith, pray regularly, receive the sacraments, and follow the Commandments. We know also that it is God's will that we must take good care the physical part of ourselves as well. We need to eat and drink rightly and temperately, get enough exercise and sleep. Taking care of both "sides" of us is very important for our ability to reach our full God-given human potential.

There is another "side" of us that we don't talk about too much and is very important. Well we might talk about it, but we don't talk about how we can develop and strengthen it. This "side" is our psychological or emotional side. How we deal with and process our emotions is critical in living a good, happy, holy and moral life and how we can interact positively with others. Just like not taking care of our bodies will lead to physical sickness and not taking care of our souls will lead to spiritual sickness, so, too, not taking care of our emotional side will lead to psychological sickness.

All three parts of the human person are wounded by Original Sin and need God's grace to prosper. Nonetheless, our cooperation with and use of God's grace in our lives is essential to our overall wellbeing. If we don't exercise our bodies we get physically weak. At the same time if we overdo or improperly exercise, we can damage our bodies. If we don't pray, our souls get weak. However, if our prayer is only focused on ourselves and what we want, it can lead us to selfishness and be harmful to our spiritual wellbeing. Likewise, if we don't exercise our passions and emotions (by trying to suppress them) we will become emotionally weak. But if we allow them to be unbridled and unrestrained, we are in trouble.

It's interesting to note that self-denial, properly exercised, affects all levels of a person: physical, spiritual, and emotional. During Lent when we freely abstain from something our bodies learn that we really don't "need" that doughnut, our will is strengthened when we resist the desire to eat the doughnut. Perhaps most important of all, our passions (emotions) learn that not having every want or desire fully satisfied is not going to harm us.

I sometimes wonder about the level of violence in the world today may be in part due to emotional weakness. Not necessarily mental illness, but mental weakness. While we might laugh at the "everyone gets a trophy" mentality that seems to be present in our country, I wonder if we should rather be concerned. Last place is not first place and it doesn't feel good to come in last. Nor should it. In our contemporary, very affluent society, we seem to want to insulate ourselves and especially our children from all negative emotions. While on one level this is understandable, it's nonetheless incomplete. Never learning how to process our emotions, especially the negative ones, is very dangerous. We can come to feel entitled to always get what we want, and then seek to get what we want no matter what the means. Also, we can easily seek to punish those who make us feel bad simply because we feel we should never feel bad.

St. Thomas Aquinas in the Middle Ages was one of the first Church theologians who effectively drew from ancient pagan philosophers. Notably he used some of the philosophical constructs of Aristotle to help explain Divine Revelation. St. Thomas remarked that true wisdom is accepting the truth no matter what the source, even from an enemy, simply because it's the truth. Perhaps, then, we can learn something from another ancient pagan, Seneca, the Roman philosopher, statesman, and playwright. He understood well the need for emotional strength and that it was acquired often through learning to endure negative emotional experiences. He said, "Prosperity unbruised cannot endure a single blow, but a man who has been at a constant feud with misfortunes acquires skin calloused by suffering; he yields to no evil and even if he stumbles carries the fight on upon his knee."

The season of Lent and the self-denial that goes with it, is not just about giving up stuff, it's about becoming stronger as a person, including the realization that a few callouses on our emotions and desires isn't a bad thing at all for they will enable us to survive the larger hurts that will inevitably come our way. If there was anyone who was a model of endurance of negative emotions it was Jesus. He didn't just carry the cross, he also carried the hatred, vilification, and contempt of his persecutors. And upon the cross he wasn't just forgiving the nails in his hands and feet, he was forgiving the emotional wounds in his soul that were caused by his enemies.

Maybe a fruitful reflection during the rest of our Lent can be this: to ask ourselves how well do we endure negative emotions? How often do we ask the Lord to help us be strong in the face of sadness and disappointment? Do we teach our children that negative emotions, like the sadness of losing a game or the betrayal of a friend, while not something "good" are still necessary to experience and it is a good thing to learn to process in their hearts without bitterness?

God Bless you,
Father Joseph Byerley

LENT 2024

Reflect. Repent. Restore.

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
February 25 Second Sunday of Lent "This is my beloved Son. Listen to him." <small>(Mark 9:7)</small>	February 26 "We need to listen to Jesus. Lent is a time of grace to the extent that we listen to him as he speaks to us." <small>(Pope Francis, Message for Lent 2023)</small>	February 27 After dinner, pray a decade of the Rosary for those who feel unwelcomed, unheard, and unloved.	February 28 "Often when people commit deeds of injustice, they act together. In the same way, when they repent they help one another, so that freed from sin by the grace of Christ, they may work together with all people of good will for justice and peace in the world." <small>(Order of Penance, no. 5)</small>	February 29 On this "extra" day of the year, make a list of all the good things that God has given you and say a prayer of thanksgiving for God's loving care.	March 1 Prayerfully discern ways that you can give to others by sharing your time, treasure, and talent.	March 2 If possible, apologize to someone you have hurt or offer forgiveness to someone who has hurt you.
March 3 Third Sunday of Lent We proclaim Christ crucified, <small>(1 Cor 1:23)</small>	March 4 "To deepen our knowledge of the Mass, to fully understand and embrace the mystery of his salvation, accomplished in total self-giving inspired by love, we must allow ourselves to be taken aside by him and to detach ourselves from mediocrity and vanity. We need to set out on the journey, an uphill path that, like a mountain trek, requires effort, sacrifice and concentration." <small>(Pope Francis, Message for Lent 2023)</small>	March 5 Pray one of the Penitential Psalms (Psalms 6, 32, 38, 51, 102, 130, 143) and give thanks for God's mercy.	March 6 "The disciple of Christ who, after sinning, is moved by the Holy Spirit and comes to the Sacrament of Penance, should, above all, turn to God with all his (her) heart." <small>(Order of Penance, no. 6)</small>	March 7 Today is the memorial of Saints Perpetua and Felicity, martyred in Africa in the early years of the third century. Pray for all who suffer persecution for their faith.	March 8 As Lent nears its halfway point, recommitt yourself to prayer, fasting, and almsgiving to purify your heart for the Paschal feast.	March 9 Lord Jesus, have mercy on me, a sinner.
March 10 Fourth Sunday of Lent For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him might not perish but might have eternal life. <small>(John 3:16)</small>	March 11 "Jesus is himself the Way, and therefore, both in the liturgical journey and in the journey of the Synod, the Church does nothing other than enter ever more deeply and fully into the mystery of Christ the Savior." <small>(Pope Francis, Message for Lent 2023)</small>	March 12 If possible, spend some time in prayer before the Blessed Sacrament, asking that God will fill you with his grace so that you may draw ever closer to the Body of Christ.	March 13 "The genuineness of repentance depends on this contrition of heart. For conversion should affect the person from within, in order to enlighten him (her) more deeply day by day and to conform him (her) more and more to Christ." <small>(Order of Penance, no. 6a)</small>	March 14 Pray for peace in all the troubled parts of our world, in our communities, and in our families.	March 15 Pray the Stations of the Cross (Stations Of The Cross USCCB), either in your parish or on your own.	March 16 Blessed are you, Lord, God of all creation: you make us hunger and thirst for holiness. Blessed are you, Lord, God of all creation: you call us to true fasting: to set free the oppressed, to share our bread with the hungry, to shelter the homeless and to clothe the naked. <small>(Catholic Household Blessing and Prayers)</small>

The Three Temptations with Dr. Brant Pitre

Reflect with Dr. Brant Pitre on the temptations of Jesus in the desert as he gets to the heart of the meaning of Lent.

The Hour of Our Death | Eternal Rest | Episode 3

The Anointing of the Sick is one of the seven sacraments of the Church. This session, we discover the role of this sacramental anointing in the spiritual struggle during serious illness, the final stages of our temporal life, and the hour of our death.

Talking Back: Scripture's to Answer Common Fears | Fearless | Episode 3

How can the Word of God help us face fear and win back victory from the Enemy's control? Chris continues his conversation with Fr. Dave Pivonka about how people of faith address fear. Scripture provides concrete ways to wield the power of God's Word against the fear of need, abandonment, vulnerability, condemnation, and more. Unlock the means for the Lord to free you from all fear.
