Easter Time

As we continue to celebrate this joyous time of the Resurrection, the victory of Christ over sin and death, it is so important to remember that the salvation offered to us in the Lord's victory, while freely offered to us, is neither automatic nor necessary. If we want to be saved by Jesus, we must say yes to the Lord, not just by our words but also by our thoughts and actions. No one earns salvation or deserves it. What we deserve is hell due to our sins. But taking pity on us, in his infinite mercy, God took on humanity in Jesus Christ and suffered and died to pay the debt of our sins. And by His rising from the dead, God showed that his love is more powerful than sin and death. For this we need to both rejoice and be grateful every day.

But we must not cheapen the love and mercy of God by taking it for granted. Too often we are encouraged, sadly even sometimes within the Church, that heaven is attainable without commitment and without obedience to God's commands. It is simply not true that God's infinite mercy somehow cancels out His infinite justice. In the end, we will face one or the other. The only way to access the free, undeserved and infinite mercy of God is to acknowledge his sovereignty over us in everything, including morality. Then we can come humbly to him and implore his mercy when we fail in our weakness to be faithful to His commands.

On the other hand, continuing the original sin of Adam and Eve and desiring to be the author of right and wrong, is the path to judgment not to mercy. Trying to rationalize or emotionalize and justify evil by trying to call it "good" makes the devil very happy. All too often in our current society, we are called not just to tolerate, but to praise behavior that is contrary to God's law. And anyone who speaks up in defense of God's word as revealed to us in Sacred Scripture, are the ones thought of as evil and then risk the dreaded "cancel".

While this doesn't seem like the most joyous Easter time message, in essence it is. Because it is the truth of God that sets us free and for this we should rejoice. Jesus died and rose so that we might have life. And for all who accept Christ, and what he teaches, are offered eternal life with Him. That is something we should be happy about and joyful about. Something so happy and joyful that we should be proclaiming, rather than hiding.

I think about these next weeks leading up to Pentecost. How afraid the Apostles were even though they encountered the risen Lord multiple times. And then how they were empowered by the Holy Spirit to speak boldly and lovingly the truth of Christ. For it is an act of love to offer the truth to someone, rather than to enable them to remain in error and sin. While we can't (and shouldn't) make someone follow God, at least we can point out the way to them. May the Holy Spirit come in a new and powerful way into the hearts of believers and enable us to speak the truth fearlessly and lovingly, despite whatever pushback, so that the mercy of God may be made more and more available to the world today.

God Bless you,
Father Joseph Byerley

STEWARDS LISTEN

"Did not our hearts burn within us while He talked to us on the road, while He opened to us the scriptures?" - Luke 24:32
How often do you take the time to discern what Jesus is calling you to do with your life? Are your prayers always petitions, asking Jesus to do things for you? If so, that's a one-sided relationship.

Living our faith means developing a personal relationship with Jesus. Just like any friendship, there is give and take, each side listening to each other and helping each other out.

Take time, in silence, to listen to what Jesus is asking of you today.
