Saint Bonaventure on how to read Sacred Scripture

Saint Bonaventure (1221-1274) a Doctor of the Catholic Church, explains that just reading Sacred Scripture is not enough. One can only properly understand the Scriptures if he already has the truth Faith. Bonaventure explains that the Scriptures are a gift for the ultimate purpose of leading us to Heaven. The Scriptures are a guide if only we know the destination, which is eternal beatitude with the Holy Trinity and all the Saints. This doesn't mean that reading Sacred Scripture without faith is pointless, since God's grace is always active - after all it was through reading the bible that St. Augustine was drawn to the Christian Faith. Nonetheless, faith is an essential element for us to receive the full spiritual profit of Sacred Scripture. Read it with faith, and let the full force of the Jesus the Word of God fill your hearts.

God bless you,
Father Joseph Byerley

From Breviloquium by Saint Bonaventure:

From all this it follows that it is impossible for anyone to start to recognize Scripture for what it is if he does not already have faith in Christ infused into him. Christ is the lamp that illuminates the whole of Scripture: he is its gateway and its foundation. For this faith is behind all the supernatural enlightenments that we receive while we are still separated from the Lord and on our pilgrimage. It makes our foundation firm, it directs the light of the lamp, it leads us in through the gateway. It is the standard against which the wisdom that God has given us should be measured, so that no-one should exaggerate his real importance, but everyone must judge himself soberly by the standard of the faith God has given him.

The substance and fruit of holy Scripture is very specific: the fullness of eternal happiness. For this is what Scripture is – its words are words of eternal life, and it is written not just so that we should believe, but specially so that we should possess eternal life in which we may see, and love, and have all our desires fulfilled. When they are fulfilled, then we shall know the superabundant love that comes from knowledge, and so we shall be filled with all the fullness of God. God's Scripture tries to lead us to this fullness, and to the truth of the preaching of the apostles. It is to this end, with this intention, that we should study holy Scripture, and teach it, and hear it.

If we are to follow the direct path of Scripture and come straight to the final destination, then right from the beginning – when simple faith starts to draw us towards the light of the Father – our hearts should kneel down and ask the Father to give us, through his Son and the Holy Spirit, true knowledge of Jesus and of his love. Once we know him and love him like this, we shall be made firm in faith and deeply rooted in love, and we can know the breadth, length, depth and height of holy Scripture. That news can then lead us to the full knowledge and overwhelming love of the most holy Trinity. The desires of the saints draw them towards the Trinity, in which all that is good and true is and finds its completion.

UNDERSTANDING THE MASS—PART 2

THE LITURGY OF THE WORD

The Lectionary

At the Second Vatican Council, the Lectionary was developed based on studies that had been made of the early Church. Christians in the first centuries after Christ adapted the Jewish synagogue service for the celebration of the Eucharist. Like their Jewish elders, the Church chose continuous readings from the Law and the Prophets adding to them the letters of Paul and the stories of Jesus found in the Gospels.

Certain readings were assigned to particular festive celebrations or to places of pilgrimage commemorating the life of Christ.

The current Lectionary provides a continuous reading of the Sacred Scriptures—a three-year cycle for Sundays and a two-year cycle for week days. Each year of the Sunday cycle focuses on a particular Gospel (Matthew—A; Mark—B; and Luke—C). Passages from the Gospel of John appear at different times in all three years.

You may realize that the first readings and responsorial psalms were selected to highlight some aspect of the Gospel for the day. The second readings are generally a continuous reading from a particular letter of Saint Paul or another of the pastoral letters. During the Easter Season, the first reading comes from the Acts of the Apostles and the second reading sometimes from the Book of Revelation.

The Ministry of Lector

The Lector or Reader has a vital role in the Liturgy of the Word. He or she is charged with the responsibility of proclaiming the Word of God. As such, they must be excellent readers who study the Scriptural texts and prepare to proclaim them by practicing. Since the Church teaches that it is Christ who speaks to us in the Word, all in the assembly should be able to hear and understand the readings when proclaimed without having to rely on reading a written text.

What is the Ambo?

The ambo is the place from which the readings, the responsorial psalm, the Gospel and homily are proclaimed. The Ambo is the Altar of the Word. It is to be substantial in nature and similar in design to the altar and sanctuary furniture and distinguished from a lectern or podium from which announcement are made or songs are led.

Silence is Key

The General Instructions of the Roman Missal encourage moments of silence after each reading so as to promote prayer and meditation through which each listener may hear the voice of the Lord. We must remember that we are not listening to “historical” narratives—the Lord is speaking to us today and now in this very moment.

The First Reading

As noted earlier, the first reading is taken from the Jewish Scriptures—the Law, Prophets, Wisdom Literature or the Historical Books. This reading usually foreshadows in some way the text of the Gospel to be read at the same Mass. In this way, the assembly comes to know that God has worked His salvation through history—in real people, like us.

During the Easter Season, the First Reading is taken from a continuous reading of the Acts of the Apostles so that we recall how the Holy Spirit gathered people of many languages and backgrounds into the community of the Church.

The Responsorial Psalm

The Psalms are the Hymn Book of the Church and in them are expressed the spectrum of human emotions. They are used in the context of the Liturgy of the Word to help us realize that, through generations, believers have sung these words making of them their own prayer to God...i.e. the Lord is my Shepherd, there is nothing I shall want.

The Second Reading

The second reading is usually taken from one of the Letters of Saint Paul or another of the Pastoral Letters of the New Testament. While the second reading does not intentionally connect to the first reading or the Gospel, it describes for us the wisdom offered by the Church's early pastors to their communities which, like ours today, struggled to understand how to apply Christian teachings to daily life. The response to both the first and second reading is: Thanks be to God—as we praise and thank God for speaking to us.

The Gospel Acclamation

The “Alleluia” which is sung during most of the liturgical year is not just a song—it is an action of the assembly by which we stand to welcome Christ, present in the Good News, with great joy. This acclamation is so important that the Roman Missal requires that it must always be sung, not recited.

During the Season of Lent, the Alleluia is not sung in anticipation of its announcing the Resurrection at Easter when of necessity the Alleluia is sung repeatedly. In Lent, a phrase praising Christ present in the Gospel are sung.

The Proclamation of the Gospel

So important is the Proclamation of the Gospel that it is surrounded by rituals which are outlined below:

Change in Posture—with the singing of the Gospel Acclamation, the assembly stands. Standing is always a sign of the Resurrection and invites us to actively listen to the Words of the Gospel.

The Opening Dialogue—the deacon or priest proclaiming the Gospel informs us that it is Christ who speaks to us directly. The Lord be with you. And with your spirit (words addressed to Christ). A reading from the holy gospel according to N. Glory to you, O Lord (notice the you is likewise addressed to Christ). Christ then speaks to us today and now.

The Sign of the Cross—the act of making the sign of the cross three times (forehead, lips and breast) is a ritual gesture that we don't think about but it imitates what the deacon or priest does as they pray:

“May the Lord be in my mind, on my lips and in my heart that I may worthily proclaim the holy gospel.” Proclaim it in word and deed today and throughout the week.

The Book of the Gospels—The Gospels are so precious that they are collected in a Book separate from the other readings. The Gospels are of primary importance in the life of a Christian and are the lens through which we interpret all of the Sacred Scriptures. The Book of the Gospels may be highly decorated or be encased in a decorative cover.

The Gospel Procession—so important is the proclamation of the Gospel that the Book itself is carried with honor and dignity from the altar to the ambo. Like all processions, this is a moment for the assembly to be unified in its focus.

Other Reverences at the Gospel—the Book of the Gospel and proclamation of the Gospel are revered by being accompanied by candles, and on special occasions, by the use of incense. In addition, the page on which the Gospel is recorded is reverently kissed by the deacon, priest or bishop. And when the bishop presides at liturgy, he may bless the assembly with the Book of the Gospels after the proclamation of the Gospel.

The Proclamation—the words of Christ spoken to the assembly are generally proclaimed in spoken word. However, on special occasions, the words are sung to highlight their importance and to encourage attentive listening by the assembly.

The Homily

After the proclamation of the Gospel, the presider is charged with the responsibility of addressing the assembly—connecting the words proclaimed to the Christian life. Homilies require preparation but the faithful need to remember that not all priests and deacons are gifted orators. The homily is not intended to be entertainment, it is a serious call to believers encouraging them to live the Gospel.

The Profession of Faith

Again, the Church proclaims its unity by together stating what we believe in common.

The Prayer of the Faithful

The most immediate response to hearing the Word of God proclaimed and restating the tenets of our Faith is through the action of prayer. These Universal Prayers are not announcements, they are prayers offered for the Church in general, civil authorities, for common needs, for the poor, the sick and for those who have died.

JOIN US FOR: OREMUS: A GUIDE TO PRAYER Saturdays, 10:00AM

St. Patrick's Church basement

Do you want to learn how to grow in prayer and to discern God's voice? Oremus, Latin for "Let Us Pray," is an 8-week series designed to teach you the essentials of an effective and fruitful prayer life. (You are welcomed to join us, even if you cannot make all the sessions.)

- Learn how to respond to God and express yourself in prayer.
- Discover how to hear God's voice in Scripture, in your heart, and in ordinary moments.
- Learn how to overcome frustrations, distractions and dryness in prayer.
- See that desolations and consolations are a normal part of everyone's walk with God.

Next in this video series:

- Oct. 22 Week 4 - Relational Prayer
- Oct. 29 Week 5 - Spiritual Senses
- Nov. 5 Week 6 - Discernment in Prayer
- Nov. 12 Week 7 - Dealing with Distractions
- Nov. 19 Week 8 - Desolations and Consolations

Did you know that there is an estimated (at least) 350,000 Catholic Masses celebrated every day on planet Earth? It is celebrated in every nook and cranny on the planet, by every race and nationality, and using every language.

And each of these Masses is celebrated (generally) using the same scripture readings and the same prayers.

It is amazing to think about how we are connected with Catholics all over the world, praying together when we participate in the Mass. Even if we are at a Daily Mass that only has a handful of people in attendance, there are so many other people joining us in reading the same Bible readings and saying the same prayers we are saying.

The universality of the Catholic Church is one of its amazing attributes/ This is a great reminder that we are one body in Christ!

A message from the Pastor. . .

Flu season is upon us! If you are not feeling well—cough, cold, fever, etc.—please take time to care for yourself at home. Don't try to come to Mass and make yourself worse and at the same time perhaps spread it to others.

Our 10AM Sunday Mass is live-streamed each week on youtube.com \(Holy Angels Catholic Church Live Stream\).

You can help take care of others, while taking good care of yourself, first!
