Cookies

This has been making the rounds on the Internet for some time and has become quite known. I thought it was worthwhile to read again....

A young lady was waiting for her flight in the boarding area of a large airport. As she would need to wait many hours, she decided to buy a book to spend her time. She also bought a packet of cookies. She sat down in an armchair in the VIP room of the airport, to rest and read in peace. Beside the armchair where the packet of cookies lay, a man sat down in the next seat, opened his magazine and started reading. When she took out the first cookie, the man took one also. She felt irritated but said nothing. She thought, "What a nerve! If I were in the mood I would punch him!" For each cookie she took, the man took one too. This was infuriating to her but she didn't want to cause a scene. When only one cookie remained, she thought, "Ah...what will this abusive man do now?" Then the man, taking the last cookie, divided in half, giving her one half. That was too much! She launched into a verbal attack against the man and stormed out to board her plane.

When she sat down in her seat on the plane, still fuming from the episode, she thought, "At least now I can have some peace and won't be abused anymore." As she opened her purse to take out her reading glasses, she saw, to her surprise, her packet of cookies untouched, unopened. With great shame she realized how wrong she had been. She had been eating the man's cookies and he had generously divided his with her, without anger or bitterness while she had been very angry, thinking that she was dividing her cookies with him. And now there was not chance to explain or to apologize.

This little story illustrates a couple of important points. The first is that even when we are convinced we know something; the strength of our conviction does not make it true...we can still be wrong. The second is that when we allow our passions/emotions to dominate us (in this case, anger) it is more likely that evil will be done than good. While we all may not be as generous and understanding as the man in the airport, and although we don't necessarily have to let people take our cookies, how we respond to what we think is happening that will determine whether our response is Christ like or not. Control over our passions and emotions rather than slavery to them is the mark of a virtuous person. This control not only keeps us from embarrassing ourselves, it also provides the authentic freedom in our lives that we need in order for our relationship with the Lord to mature, deepen and flourish.

God bless you,
Father Joseph Byerley

UNDERSTANDING THE MASS—PART 3

PREPARING THE ALTAR AND GIFTS

In Between Time

The movement between the Liturgy of the Word and the Liturgy of the Eucharist requires a moment of transition. At a dinner party, there is ultimately a moment when the host invites those gathered to move from the living room to the dining table. At Mass, this transition must happen as well—though the transition doesn't involve us changing our seats.

Setting the Table of the Lord, the Altar

When a church is consecrated or a new altar is installed in a church, the altar must be consecrated. The beautiful rite of consecrating an altar requires that the bishop anoint the altar with Sacred Chrism, the Christ oil. As such the altar bears the presence of Christ, the "anointed one."

For this reason, only those things needed for the celebration of the Mass should ever be placed upon the altar. Those items are:

The Book of the Gospel—at the beginning of Mass, the Book of the Gospel is placed on the altar to signify the connection between the Word and the Eucharist.

The Altar Cloth—the Roman Missal requires that one white altar cloth cover at least the top of the altar (the mensa). If a second cloth is used, it may be white or a festive or seasonal color. Prior Missals required three cloths with the one in between being a cerecloth (a linen cloth imbedded with wax) so that a spill of the Precious Blood could be easily cleaned.

The Corporal—a corporal is a square linen cloth onto which is placed the prepared ciborium (container for the hosts) and chalice (cup for the wine/Precious Blood). Corporals are usually marked with a cross and are ironed in such a way that when folded, any particles of the Blessed Sacrament are contained within.

The Purificator—a purificator is another linen cloth, rectangular in shape that is used to wipe the chalice. It is likewise marked with a cross and ironed in a particular manner so as to fit across the top of a chalice. Along with the corporal, a purificator, which may have absorbed the Precious Blood, are purified by being soaked in the sacrarium (a special sink in the sacristy that drains directly into the earth instead of the sewer system). After having been soaked, they may be machine washed and then ironed by hand.

The Pall—a pall is square of dense paper or plastic that is covered with linen and often decorated. It is used to cover the chalice during the celebration of Mass so as to prevent insects or debris from falling into the chalice.

The Chalice Veil and Burse—the paten (plate for the large host used by the priest) and chalice are assembled in a particular manner. The purificator is placed over the chalice; the paten is placed on top of the purificator. The pall is then placed over the paten. A veil, usually made of fabric that matches the priest's vestments or the altar cloth, is placed over chalice and paten. On top is placed a burse—a square "pocket" covered with linen and usually decorated into which is placed the corporal.

Candles—out of reverence for the altar which is Christ, candles are placed on or near the altar. At least two candles are required. More may be used in accord with the solemnity of celebration. When the bishop visits a parish church, a seventh candle is added. The tradition of adding a seventh candle is of unknown origin but likely relates to "fullness" as expressed in the days of the week, the Sacraments and even to the Jewish seven-branched menorah.

The Roman Missal and Stand—the prayers for the entire Liturgy are found in the Roman Missal. It therefore must be placed on the altar for the celebration of Mass. In accord with the presiders preference, a stand may be used so that he can see the texts more clearly.

The Collection and Presentation of the Gifts

Following the Prayer of the Faithful, the assembly is seated and an Offertory Song or an instrumental piece is played. An offertory collection is taken among the faithful—these monetary offerings are gifts from our work and so represent us. They are used for the support of the Church, its mission and the care of the poor. Once completed the monetary offering along with the bread and wine, also works of human hands that represent us, are brought to the sanctuary in procession. Like other processions in the Liturgy, this again is a moment for the assembly to be united as their offerings and individual intentions are brought to the Lord.

This is a significant moment in the Liturgy because, as noted above, the gifts brought to the altar symbolize us humans. The bread and wine, made by human hands which nourish us in our daily lives, are presented and transformed into Body and Blood of Christ meaning that we too are transformed. And then they are given to us as Holy Communion to effect that transformation—that we, indeed, may become what we receive.

For this reason, aside from the monetary collection, only bread and wine are presented in the presider. Water or flowers are not made by human hands, they are already divine gifts, so they do not represent us. Empty vessels are not be transformed in the Liturgy and so should not be included in the presentation of the gifts.

Preparation of the Chalice

The ciboria and hosts are placed adjacent to the corporal while the chalice is prepared. The priest or deacon adds a drop of water to the chalice while praying: by the mystery of this water and wine, may we come to share in the divinity of Christ who humbles himself to share in our humanity. Water, a divine gift, here represents Christ who, by the mystery of the Incarnation, joined in our humanity, represented by the wine—a work of human hands.

This ritual dates to a time when water needed to be added to the wine which was stored in concentrated form so as to make it drinkable. As with many practical things in the Liturgy, the action was given religious meaning.

Prayers of the Priests Over the Gifts

After the deacon, or the priest himself, has prepared the chalice, the presider quietly prays over the ciborium or paten: Blessed are you, Lord God of all creation, for through your goodness we have received the bread we offer: fruit of the earth and work of human hands, it will become for us the bread of life. To which, if there is no music, the people respond Blessed be God for ever. A similar prayer is prayed over the chalice: Blessed are you, Lord God of all creation, for through your goodness we have received the wine we offer you: fruit of the vine and work of human hands, it will become our spiritual drink. Again, the people respond: Blessed be God for ever.

The priest then bows and silently prays: With humble spirit and contrite heart may we be accepted by you, O Lord, and may our sacrifice in your sight this day, be pleasing to you, Lord God. The priest then turns and washes his hands while saying: Wash me, O Lord, from my iniquity and cleanse me from my sin. Again the action of the priest washing his hands is rooted in the time when actual gifts were presented (the bread, wine, animals, fruits, vegetables, etc...). His hands, being dirty, needed washing. When such things were no longer presented, the hand washing took on spiritual significance taken from Psalm 51 which recounts David's unworthiness before God.

The Prayer Over the Gifts

As the priest calls upon the assembly to pray: pray my brothers and sisters that my sacrifice and yours may be acceptable to God, the almighty Father. The people respond: May the Lord accept the sacrifice at your hands, for the glory and praise of his name, for our good and the good of all his holy Church.

The assembly, now standing, are ready to hear the prayer prayed over the gifts which unites the actions, prayers and gestures into a single prayer that offers the bread and wine.

THANKSGIVING FOOD CAMPAIGN

Conducted by the St. Vincent DePaul Society of Holy Angels Parish

As is the tradition in our Parish, our Thanksgiving Food Basket Campaign has enabled us to share our many blessings with those less fortunate. Unfortunately, as we all well know, prices have increased dramatically, and as a result, we find many more families unable to meet their basic food needs. For most, a special Thanksgiving dinner would be an impossibility.

In an effort to effectively accommodate a significant increase in requests this year, the St. Vincent de Paul Society is partnering with Greater Woodbury Cooperative Ministries Food Bank to ensure that all who seek help this Thanksgiving can be served.

There are 2 ways you can help:

*Make a cash donation or simply write a check and place it in the poor boxes at each Church or mark an envelope "Thanksgiving Food Basket" and place it in the weekend collection basket. Every $75 collected will fill one Thanksgiving basket for a family of four.

Donate Thanksgiving Dinner Staples: Stuffing mix, cranberries, canned vegetables, canned sweet potatoes, coffee, etc. Place them in a bag clearly marked: "Thanksgiving Food Basket" and leave in the designated spot in each Church.

NOTE: If you would like to donate a turkey DO NOT leave it in the church. You can take it to the GWCM Food Pantry at Seventh Day Adventist Church-corner of Evergreen & Barber Ave (parking lot side) on Tuesday or Thursday morning between 7AM and 11AM OR you can call SDVP at 856-848-7744, leave a message and we will try to arrange for a pick up.

ALL DONATIONS ARE NEEDED
BY SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13TH
BASKETS WILL BE DELIVERED TO GWCM FOOD PANTRY
ON NOVEMBER 15TH AND NOVEMBER 17TH

*"When I was hungry, you gave me food."
Won't you please share your blessings with those less fortunate this Thanksgiving season?*

It highlights his tremendous faith in God, and the remarkable impact his life has had on the resurgence of Catholicism in Russia, as seen with on location footage from around the world.

The Last Things

This film presents the reality of death and what will follow for every person: first the Particular Judgment before God, and second, Heaven or Hell as our destination for all eternity. The Catholic teaching on Purgatory is also explained.

What Is Heaven?

Does heaven exist? Is heaven the eternal Church? Dr. Michael Barber and Chris Stefanick clear up common misunderstandings about heaven.
