Discontinuity vs. Reform, part II

Last week, I offered a portion of Pope Emeritus Benedict's analysis on the difficulties that have been experienced by the Church in the implementation of the Second Vatican Council. In his reflection, the Holy Father stated that these difficulties center on the "hermeneutic" of Vatican II. "Hermeneutic" sounds like a big word, but it really isn't. It is just the Greek work for "interpretation" (The root word of hermeneutics comes from the Greek god, Hermes, the god often depicted with winged feet. It was he who had the task of delivering messages from Mt. Olympus - where the gods lived - to the mortal world; that is, he interpreted for the mortals the messages of the gods). So, what Pope Benedict is saying is that the difficulties that the Church is having in the implementation of the Second Vatican Council centers on how one interprets the meaning and purpose of the Council.

For those who see Vatican II as "discontinuous" or a break with the past councils, will look at the teachings of the Council much differently that those who see the Council in continuity with the teachings of the Church dating back to the Apostles. The former seek to detach the Church from the past and have it develop in a completely new direction, free from any historical constraint. On the other hand, and the proper way to look at the Second Vatican Council according to Benedict, is to see the Council and its teachings precisely in the light of the past. To draw on the rich heritage of the past and to "re-present" the Church and her message in a way that is accessible to the contemporary world. This is the true nature of reform.

So when we look to Second Vatican Council we need to see it as part of the same tradition and in continuity with the councils before it: Vatican I, the Council of Trent, the multiple Councils of Nicaea, the Council of Ephesus, and all the rest going all the way back to the Council of Jerusalem in 70 A.D. at which the Apostles were present. It would be a grave mistake and a terrible tragedy to think that we no longer need our past. Our faith is the same and will always be the same. It has been given to us by the Lord and it is he who continues to guide the Church through the Holy Spirit. In the end, if we respect and are faithful to the rich heritage of our Church, we can move confidently into the future, knowing the perennial truths of the Gospel, the precious inheritance of our past, and the Lord's love and grace will lead the Church to be an ever more effective instrument of salvation for the world.

God bless you,
Father Joseph Byerley

Prayer to Saint Michael the Archangel

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle. Be our defense against the wickedness and snares of the Devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray and do thou, O Prince of the heavenly hosts, by the power of God, cast into hell Satan, and all the evil spirits, who prowl about the world seeking the ruin of souls. Amen.

K OF C NEWS

The Knights of Columbus (K of C) serving our parish are happy to announce the merger of two of the organization's local councils into one. This merger will go a long way to helping the K of C combine their efforts and ideas to serve Holy Angels Parish, its School, local communities and national/international endeavors even more effectively.

The newly united council includes the former Most Holy Redeemer Council 11713 and Monsignor C.G. McCorristin Council 1994. It will now be known as Saint Patrick Council 11713. With its combined membership and resources, the Saint Patrick K of C looks forward to meeting the needs of our parish, our Mother Church and the world.

The K of C, a Catholic fraternal organization, counts nearly two million members in countries across the globe. Its charitable works range from helping meet the needs of local parishes and Catholic schools to aiding major relief efforts in the U.S. and abroad.

To learn more about the Knights, their history and their ongoing mission, visit www.kofc.org.

Our Council is open to practicing Catholic men age 18 and above. For information on membership, please contact Bob O'Sullivan at 856-357-0688 or osullivanbob@yahoo.com.

PRAYER FOR PERSECUTED CHRISTIANS

O God of all the nations, the One God who is and was and always will be, in your providence you willed that your Church be united to the suffering of your Son.

Look with mercy on your servants who are persecuted for their faith in you.

Grant them perseverance and courage to be worthy imitators of Christ.

Bring your wisdom upon leaders of nations to work for peace among all peoples.

May your Spirit open conversion for those who contradict your will, that we may live in harmony.

Give us the grace to be united in truth and freedom, and to always seek your will in our lives.

Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Our Lady Help of Persecuted Christians, pray for us.
